With the holiday season quickly approaching, many people are starting to prepare for the big shopping season. The biggest shopping day of the year for most retailers is Black Friday, which is on the Friday after Thanksgiving. On this day many national retailers offer extreme sales that help to make it the busiest shopping day of the year.

When you are starting to plan for your holiday shopping, here are 5 tips that to follow that can help you get the money you need to take advantage of Black Friday shopping.

1. Rewards Programs

One way that you can get money for your holiday shopping is by taking advantage of consumer and retailer rewards programs. Many of the larger national retailers have their own rewards programs that provide discounts and cash back to consumers. If you take advantage of these accounts throughout the year, you could turn up a lot of cash back and status with the retailer. This could not only allow you to receive additional discounts, but may help you accumulate cash rewards that could be used to pay for items during the holidays.

2. Save in Advance

When you are thinking about how to prepare for your holiday season shopping, one of the best tips would be to save for your holiday shopping budget all year long. During the shopping season, it can feel like you are spending way too much money. However, by saving a little bit of money each month towards your holiday shopping budget throughout the year, it can feel like a more manageable expense and give you the money you need to take advantage of great Black Friday deals.

3. Sell Items

When you are looking to get some money for your shopping on Black Friday, another option would be to sell some of your personal belongings. This is a good time of the year to de-clutter your home and make a little extra money by selling items that you no longer use. Through the use of social media and online resources, you could quickly sell used items that others may want to give as gifts this holiday season.

4. Seasonal Job

Another way that you can get money to use for Black Friday is to get a seasonal job. During the months leading up to Christmas, many retailers are hiring additional employees to help prepare for the upcoming busy season. In many cases, you could get a job as soon as October, which would give you the ability to save extra money by the time the extreme sales start. You could also consider getting a freelance job to earn extra money on the side when it is convenient for you.
